

SF Police Commission Community Meeting
on Choosing a New Police Chief
Monday, August 29, 6-8 PM
St Mary's Cathedral, 1111 Gough (at Geary)

5:30-6:15 PM: Help display a 70 ft banner with names of SF Police murder victims since 2000.

This is the last of several community meetings which community participants have denounced as a wishful-thinking, feel-good, dog-an-pony shows which will not influence the selection, and are designed to distract the public from the SFPD's actual practices of racist, sexist, and anti-homeless brutality and killing.

The most prominent announced candidate, Acting Chief Toney Chaplin, has refused to name the second officer who killed Jessica Williams, or to reveal the dash-cam footage, or even meet with the community. Some of these police killers have actually attended some community meetings, but the Commissioners leading the meetings refused to consider actions against them.

Come to this meeting to demand real action from the Commission.
