

The international communist movement and the world working class, Chinese Views.
Sun, Jan 20, 2019: 10:30 am to 12:30 pm
Niebyl-Proctor Marxist Library
6501 Telegraph Ave. Oakland, CA 94609

A delegation of Chinese Communist Party comrades will be visiting the Bay Area and Chicago to get to know the problems of U.S. society and politics better. They will also speak at our forum. The delegation includes:

1. Tang Min, professor, president of School of Politics and International Studies, CCNU, a famous Chinese expert in the research of Chinese rural governance, national problems.

2. Zhong Detao, executive vice president of Party School of CCNU, professor of School of Marxism, CCNU, a famous Chinese expert in the research of history of CPC and the political party system of CPC.

3. Zhou Huaping, associate professor, Center for Marxist Parties in Foreign Countries of CCNU, specialized in the research of European communist movement and Italian Communist Parties.

4. Pan Guangwei, doctor, office director of School of Politics and International Studies, CCNU, specialized in the research of the construction of communist party in the universities.

5. Yu Weihai, associate professor, dean of Center for Marxist Parties in Foreign Countries of CCNU, specializing in the researches of the communist movement and the world communist parties.

So, they can talk about three topics at least: history and system of CPC, communist movement, Chinese rural governance and national problem.